Streamex Corp. Announces GLDY Now Available for Custody by Inspira Financial, Unlocking Yield-Bearing Gold Exposure for Traditional Finance Investors

July 21, 2026

Highlights

- GLDY Class B shares are now available for custody by Inspira Financial, a qualified custodian under the SEC's Custody Rule. Institutional investors, RIA's, wealth managers, and advisors who hold client assets within Inspira can now access GLDY through infrastructure they already use.
- Inspira Financial holds over $63 billion in assets across more than 8 million accounts and has serviced over 1,500 funds. As one of the largest directed custodians in the country, Inspira gives GLDY access to an established institutional custody network with deep reach into the traditional finance capital market, representing a significant step-change in GLDY's addressable distribution.
- Inspira is the latest addition to the GLDY Access Network, Streamex's growing set of custody, liquidity, and distribution partnerships built to make GLDY accessible everywhere investors already hold assets. The Network now includes Inspira, Siebert, tZero, Anchorage, Coinbase Prime, and Orca spanning institutional liquidity, regulated custody, brokerage distribution, and decentralized secondary trading.

WINTER PARK, Fla., July 21, 2026 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Streamex Corp. ("Streamex" or the "Company") (NASDAQ: STEX), a technology company building the future of the commodity markets through tokenization, today announced that GLDY Class B shares, a non-tokenized share class of the Company's gold-backed, yield-bearing tokenized asset, is now available for custody by Inspira Financial, a leading qualified custodian holding over $63 billion in assets and servicing more than 8 million accounts. The acceptance of GLDY onto Inspira's platform gives traditional finance investors, wealth managers, and advisors the infrastructure necessary to access yield-bearing gold exposure through custody channels they already use.

The acceptance of GLDY Class B shares onto Inspira Financials platform represents a significant expansion of GLDY's reach into the traditional finance capital market. Institutional investors, registered investment advisors, and wealth managers collectively manage trillions in client assets, and under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, they are required to hold those assets with a qualified custodian. Inspira Financial, a nationally recognized directed custodian that has serviced more than 1,500 funds over 15 years, satisfies that requirement. With GLDY Class B shares now available on Inspira's platform, these investors can access gold-backed, yield-bearing exposure within their existing operational framework.

About GLDY and GLDY Class B Shares

GLDY is Streamex's gold-backed, yield-bearing asset. GLDY Class B shares are a non-tokenized version of GLDY, created specifically to give traditional finance investors, wealth managers, and advisors straightforward access to GLDY exposure through custodians and account structures they already use. Class B shares carry the same underlying characteristics as GLDY, gold-backed, yield-bearing, and fully redeemable, and can be converted into GLDY tokens at any time.

Henry McPhie, Co-Founder & Chief Executive Officer of Streamex, said:

"Our goal is simple: give as many investors as possible a way to participate in GLDY and grow the asset's AUM. Inspira is another avenue to do exactly that. GLDY Class B shares allow traditional finance investors to get exposure through the custodian and account structure they already use, and the ability to convert into GLDY tokens at any time means they are never locked out of the full functionality and liquidity that tokenization provides. The more avenues we create, the more capital flows in, and the stronger GLDY becomes."
