- Established custodian: Equity Trust and its family of companies have 50 years of financial services experience and report approximately $75 billion in assets under custody.

- Investor education: Alongside the launch, Streamex will introduce an education initiative to inform IRA holders and their advisors about the availability of GLDY in their retirement accounts.

WINTER PARK, Fla., Nov. 18, 2026 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Streamex Corp. ("Streamex" or the "Company") (NASDAQ: STEX) , a technology company building the future of the commodity markets through tokenization, today announced that GLDY, the Company's yield bearing gold asset, has launched as an available asset to IRA account holders of Equity Trust Company as its first tokenized asset. Eligible investors with an Equity Trust self-directed IRA can now hold GLDY in their retirement accounts. The Company is looking forward to educating IRA holders on the availability of this revolutionary product in their retirement accounts.

Eligible investors can invest in GLDY through an Equity Trust self-directed IRA at https://www.streamex.com/equitytrust/.

Henry McPhie, Co-Founder & Chief Executive Officer of Streamex, stated, "Gold has always been a natural retirement asset, but a physical-metals IRA comes with storage and logistics costs, and gold ETFs charge fees while earning nothing beyond the metal's price appreciation. GLDY changes that. In an IRA, GLDY gives investors direct gold price exposure with a targeted 3.5% annualized yield, paid in additional gold. When fees are considered, this could represent a difference of nearly 4+ percent in annualized total return between GLDY and these alternatives. U.S. retirement accounts were one of the last gates between our distribution network and funded assets, and today that gate is open."

Mr. McPhie continued, "U.S. IRAs hold nearly $20 trillion, and Equity Trust gives us distribution into that market without acquiring accounts one by one. We are looking forward to educating IRA holders and their advisors on what is now available to them in their retirement accounts, particularly on the targeted differences in total return between GLDY and physical gold or gold ETFs."

George Sullivan, Chief Executive Officer of Equity Trust, added, "For more than 50 years, Equity Trust and its family of companies have helped investors diversify their retirement savings beyond traditional stocks and bonds. The addition of GLDY expands the range of alternative assets available to eligible self-directed IRA investors. We look forward to working with Streamex to help investors and their advisors understand how tokenized assets can be held within a self-directed IRA."

Expanding the GLDY Access Network

Equity Trust joins the GLDY Access Network, which now comprises ten brokerage, custody, liquidity and retirement-account providers with more than $160 billion of combined partner assets: Siebert Financial, tZERO, Inspira Financial, Wintermute, Orca, Coinbase Prime, Anchorage, Chainlink, CNB Custody and Equity Trust. The network enables institutions and individuals to buy, verify, custody, trade and exit GLDY, and Streamex's distribution strategy is to make GLDY available to their clients rather than acquiring investors one at a time.
